

The Unity Home System
a new kind of home system

The Unity Home System consolidates our most popular On-Q home technology products such as camera, intercom, multi-room audio and lighting control into one convenient, easy-to-install system. Unity and its components are available exclusively in the Studio design for a customizable look and feel that enhances the décor of any home.

The Unity Home System is your home technology command center. Camera and intercom systems ensure you're never too far from your child's bedroom or the front door. Turn on the lights or play music in any, or every, room of your home. Check local weather and adjust the temperature with the push of a button
